

Klamath River Early College of the Redwoods

Position available

English Teacher: Part Time position. Credentialed in State of California, English credential and experience in experiential-based, professional learning communities preferred. Teaching position includes curriculum development responsibilities.

Klamath River Early College of the Redwoods, an independent public charter school located in Klamath, opened in fall 2005. In partnership with the Yurok Tribe and College of the Redwoods, KRECR is a member of the national Early College Initiative (www.earlycolleges.org). KRECR blends high school with local Native culture, language, and the first two years of college in a standards-based curriculum model (www.reinventingschools.org). We are seeking a colleague who exhibits a love of life, learning, and the natural environment. We are seeking colleagues who have high standards for academic and personal performance, but who also have steady reservoirs of patience for students who are working to meet those standards. Ideal candidates have a wide tolerance for ambiguity as we use collaborative processes to collectively create this positive and serious learning community.

To Apply: Submit a cover letter, resume, proof of academic credentials and three references to:
